

Corporate Tax

Parr Brown has significant tax law experience and expertise. The firm provides clients with technical tax expertise involving long-term, strategic tax planning for business start-ups, the structure of corporate sales, acquisitions and mergers, recapitalizations, and other reorganizations (both acquisitive and divisive), tax-advantages leasing transactions, joint ventures like-kind exchanges, umbrella REIT and other techniques to defer taxation on real estate transfers, evaluating and reducing the state and local tax cost for non-resident businesses with transactions in Utah, formation and structuring of tax-exempt entities, tax planning for debt workouts, estate planning, and tax planning for individuals and businesses. Parr Brown also regularly represents clients in connection with audits and the resolution of disputes with the IRS and other taxing authorities.

Related Articles:

- Update - 2013 Federal Income Tax Increases
- "Planning for Pending Federal Income Tax Increases."
- "IRS Crackdown on Undisclosed Foreign Bank and Financial Accounts"
- "IRS Announcement 2010-9: Proposed Requirement to Disclose Uncertain Tax Positions in Business Tax Returns"