Shareholder

Jeremy Brodis is a member of the firm's litigation practice group who has experience with a wide variety of commercial disputes. Mr. Brodis has considerable experience with intellectual property litigation, and has advised and represented numerous clients in copyright, trademark, trade secret, and related disputes in both state and federal court.

Mr. Brodis is also a member of the firm's First Amendment and Media law practice group. He has represented media clients in juvenile, district, and appellate courts, and has secured the release of public records and argued against attempts to close courtrooms from public access. Mr. Brodis has also worked extensively on defamation and invasion of privacy issues, and he is a co-author of a survey of media libel law in Utah.

Mr. Brodis earned his Juris Doctor from the University of Utah S.J. Quinney College of Law, Dean's Award, Order of the Coif. He was the Executive Articles Editor of the Utah Law Review, a William H. Leary scholar, and a quarter finalist in the National Moot Court Competition.

Prior to joining Parr Brown, Mr. Brodis served as a law clerk for the Honorable Matthew B. Durrant of the Utah Supreme Court. Prior to earning his J.D., he worked as a judicial intern for the Honorable Thomas R. Lee of the Utah Supreme Court.

Jeremy has been recognized by Utah Business magazine as one of Utah's Legal Elite for his work in civil litigation.

Mr. Brodis enjoys tabletop roleplaying and strategy games, and video games inspired by them.
