

Jonathan C. Williams

Shareholder

Jonathan's practice focuses on complex commercial litigation. He frequently counsels clients on contract disputes, securities-related issues, civil fraud, and business disparagement. Jon's clients appreciate his ability to grasp big-picture objectives while also having the intellectual curiosity to be detail oriented. Jonathan believes that understanding the nuances early in a dispute ultimately gets the job done more quickly and efficiently.

Jonathan has managed numerous cases through all stages of a lawsuit. Jonathan has significant experience participating in and managing large discovery projects and especially enjoys the hunt for that gem of a fact that can turn a case.

Above all else, Jonathan is an advocate, in writing and oral argument. Opposing counsel and Judges have commented on his ability to frame and clearly communicate an issue in approachable and persuasive language. He thrives on distilling arcane legal principles in complex factual contexts down to what really matters, a practice that benefits his clients and garners trust and respect from judges and the legal community.

In 2016, Jonathan earned his J.D., from the University of Utah, S. J. Quinney College of Law, high honors. In 2013, Jonathan received his M.A., in Comparative Literature, and in 2010, he received his B.A. from Brigham Young University.

Since graduating law school, Jonathan clerked for Judge David Nuffer, United States District Court, District of Utah. Prior to joining Parr Brown, Jonathan worked at the Salt Lake City office of Dorsey & Whitney.

Jonathan has been recognized in the 2022 editions of Mountain States Super Lawyers as a "Rising Star" for his work in Business Litigation.
