

Probate, Estates and Trusts

Our Utah probate attorney group guides personal representatives, trustees and beneficiaries through the post-death will and trust administration process. Having the right estate planning attorney is essential to ensure proper management, and distribution of a decedent's property. We assist clients with all aspects of will and trust administration, including identification of assets, required notification to creditors and beneficiaries, asset distributions, appraisals, tax elections, and more. Our experienced estate planning attorneys can help mediate the relationship and communication among personal representatives, trustees and beneficiaries. Our estate and trust litigation attorneys can represent your interests as a fiduciary, or as a will or trust beneficiary. If we can assist you or a loved one, please contact us.
